

ENCC APPLICATION PROCESS

How to join ENCC? Becoming an ENCC member is very easy! :-)

Follow these steps:

1) First, read more about ENCC and its activities in order to make sure that you support the mission and aims of the network. For more details about the ENCC structure, especially the membership conditions (Title II), please refer to its statutes.

2) Check which of the membership categories you or your organisation could belong to based on the eligibility criteria below.

Are you a cultural centre or a regional/national network of cultural centres? Apply for the full membership! If you are a cultural organisation/institutions or an individual person, apply to become an associated member!

Membership categories and eligibility criteria:

Our members can be either full or associated members.

5 criteria to become an ENCC full member:

- ✓ be either a national, regional or local networks of cultural centres (*see the definitions on the next page);
- ✓ be located in Europe;
- ✓ clearly support the mission and key objectives of ENCC as they are written in Art. 4 of ENCC Statutes;
- ✓ commit to participating in the ENCC meetings including the General Assembly once a year
- ✓ and be ready to pay the annual membership fee (see the amount on the next page).

4 criteria to become an ENCC associated member:

- ✓ be a cultural organisation/institution or an individual person;
- ✓ be located in Europe;
- ✓ clearly support the mission and key objectives of ENCC as they are written in Art. 4 of ENCC Statutes;
- ✓ and be ready to pay the annual membership fee (see the amount on the next page).

Unlike the full members, associated members don't have to take part to the General Assembly once a year but they are of course more than welcome.

ENCC definitions:

* National and regional networks are non-profit associations representing cultural centres at the regional/national level. They are umbrella organisations, responsible for advocacy for culture at regional/national level, providing capacity building programmes, legal advice services, expert analysis and research. Some national networks represent also the employees of the cultural centres. They can be national/regional associations of cultural houses, art centres, community centres, socio-cultural centres, amateur groups, cultural associations, local artistic-cultural initiatives, etc.

* Local networks represent a cultural centre and its local network. They are a “cultural space” that promotes culture and arts working closely with and within the local communities (neighbourhood community arts organisations, private facilities, government-sponsored, or activist-run). They can be for instance theatres with community work programmes, local artistic-cultural initiatives, etc.

*ENCC community defines a cultural centre as an organisation rooted in the local community work, representing its interests, contributing to its development at different levels and adhering to our values as follows:

strengthen the position and role of national networks of cultural centres and, where no such networks exist, stimulate their formation in Europe;
explore and experiment new models of cooperation and networking of cultural organisations;
focus on capacity-building for the empowerment of citizens.

→ You don't recognise yourself in any of this description but are however interested to become an ENCC member? Don't hesitate to drop a line to our Membership Officer, Clémence Garnier at clemence.garnier@encc.eu ;-)

3) Have a look at our annual membership fees:
